DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1- 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Curtis et al. (US Patent 6,387,764). Curtis et al. disclose forming a mask on a substrate forming at least one trench in the substrate, selectively depositing a first insulation layer to at least partially fill the one trench in the substrate, with the insulation material in the presences of the mask, applying a second insulation material in order to fill the trench (see figure 1 column lines 45-57 and figure 1). With regards to claim 2 Curtis et al. disclose the substrate is silicon and the mask silicon nitride and the first and second are made of silicon oxide. With respect to claim 3, Curtis et al. disclose compacting (or densifying) the thermal oxide liner (see column 8 lines 22-50). With regards to claim 4, Curtis disclose the use of high density plasma to deposit the second insulation layer (see column 2 lines 10-20). With regards to claim 5, Curtis et al. disclose planarizing the dielectric (typically CMP is used to planarize) and Curtis disclose using CMP (see column 15 lines 23-36).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5/5/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant contends that Curtis fails to disclose that the oxide is formed while the mask is present. Figure one shows that the mask and the oxide liner are present at the same time. With regards to the second argument that the oxide liner is not the same as the applicants first insulation material, the examiner would like to note that it is a dielectric material and fills at least a bottom part of the trench. Therefore it reads on the claimed subject matter.
